

Kassianos Kourris is a secondary education English teacher with extensive experience in teaching English as a foreign language. He currently teaches at Saint George Lyceum of Lakatamia. He holds a Master's Degree in Career Counseling and Guidance from European University Cyprus and has a strong interest in the integration of Artificial Intelligence (AI) in education to enhance language skills, automate assessments, and create interactive lessons. As a Board Member of the Pancyprian Association of English Teachers (PAET), he actively contributes to the advancement and improvement of English language teaching in Cyprus. Kassianos also has expertise in computer science and programming and is a Certified Computer Trainer by the ICDL organization. He has experience in online broadcasting and digital content creation, managing a YouTube channel that features educational and socially relevant content. By combining innovative teaching methods, technology, and community engagement, Kassianos Kourris is interested in promoting a modern, interactive, and effective educational experience.